G. SHAW,

Respectfully informs the public, he has received from

ROBERT JOHNSTON,

Apothecary, No. 20, Green street, Soho, London, a fresh and very considerable supply of his highly esteemed Medicine,

AWARE of the depredations made on every public medicine of established repute and extensive sale, R. Johnston, obtained the King of England's Patent for his invention, not "to recommend" but "to distinguish," Whitehead's Essence of Mustard from

SPURIOUS IMITATIONS.

"Five years have now elapsed since Mr. Johnston first made known to the world this very extraordinary medicine; during this short period, its efficacy has been so clearly demonstrated that its sale has far exceeded any former example; comparitively there are few families in England or the United States which have not either heard of or experienced its beneficial effects and with heartfelt satisfaction he had the happiness to declare Whitehead's Essence of Mustard has cured more persons afflicted with Rheumatisms, Gout, Lumbago, Palsy, Complaints of the Stomach and other Painful Maladies.

Than all the Medicines ever before made public, indeed, the instances, of its efficacy and letters of acknowledgment from "the most respectable characters" are so numerous that a large volume could not possibly contain them, it has also obtained the approbation of the most eminent men of the faculty and is honoured by the use and recommendation of the first families in England, Ireland and America.

A COUNTERFEIT.

R. JOHNSTON has reason to believe a large quantity under the name of "Improved Essence of Mustard," as well as many others has been shipped for America, and considers it his duty to prevent imposition and disappointment.

He therefore requests the afflicted to be particular in the purchase of his bottles, boxes, labels, and bill of directions which are closely copied, and words "by royal authority," artfully substituted for the words "by the king's patent" which may elude common observation.

The Genuine is distinguished by the signature of R. Johnston, in his own hand writing on each label, and as an additional security is further signed on the outside wrapper by his only agent for the United States, C. SHAW, No. 129 Chesnut street, Philadelphia, by whom it is sold wholesale and retail, in pills and in a fluid state at one dollar each, box or bottle

FOR CHILBLAINS, SPRAINS AND BRUISES,

It is a certain and effectual remedy, seldom requiring more than three or four applications.

To the candid and liberal of the FACULTY, R. Johnston respectfully submits the following observations. The Fluid Essence of Mustard, is an embrocation worthy their particular attention, it differs in its nature from all others, and is out of the beaten tract of general practice—It is an active stimulant, easily controuled, may be either increased or diminished in its strength by the different methods of use, it is both elegant and convenient and is frequently found in the extemporaneous prescriptions of their brethren in England.

The above Genuine Medicine, as well as many others of the first celibrity may be had by appointment of G. Shaw, of Mr. G. Bailey, Wilmington, Dr. Barrill, Maiden Lane, New-York, Messrs. Bailey and Walker, Charleston, William Black, Salem, (N. J.) Charles Hunitch, Lancaster, A. C. Jorden, Norfolk, John Roberts, do. David Keen, Sweet Springs, Virginia, R. Lee, Baltimore, J. & J. Mautz, Fredericktown, Maryland, G. W. Mancius, Albany, Dr. Vanfolingen, New-York, Messrs. Titford & Son, do. Messrs. Ross & Douglas, Pittsburg, John Webster, Wilmington, James Wilson, do. Richard Winter & Co. Savannah, and in every principal town in the United States.

N.B. The public are desired to enquire for Whitehead's Essence of Mustard, all others being a base and spurious imitation.

GEO. SHAW.

129, Chesnut-street, where Venders may be supplied.

"Caution against Counterfeits."

Agents are appointed by G. Shaw in every principal town of the United States, and there is no certainty of purchasing the Genuine Essence of Mustard in any part of America, unless it is signed on the outside wrapper by G. Shaw, No. 129, Chesnut street, Philadelphia, where shopkeepers are supplied and a liberal discount allowed them.

GLEANINGS,

From late London Papers.

The ship King William, of Liverpool, T. Bent, Master, having 13 effective hands, was, on the morning of the 11th October, at the distance of 180 miles from Barbadoes, chased by a French privateer of 16 guns, 6 and 4 pounders, and 170 men. Capt. Bent, finding that he could not avoid fighting, brought the enemy to close action, which lasted two hours and a half, when the privateer having sustained considerable damage, and an immense loss of men, sheered off, leaving the King William almost a wreck, having received 602 shot, and her rigging cut to pieces. We had 1 of the crew killed and 4 wounded, besides 8 slaves below wounded, 2 of them mortally.

ALBANY, June 28.

THE HESSIAN FLY.

Extract of a letter to the printers of the Albany Gazette.

"I have noticed in some of your late papers, that the Hessian Fly, has again made its appearance in the United States; and that not only in Virginia, and some other of the Southern States, but also in some part of this state, melancholy proofs of the ravages of this devouring insect have been discovered; I have myself also observed that in the county of Washington, in which I reside, the fly is again desolating our fields of wheat.

"I hope so potent an enemy will not be treated with unconcern and neglect, by the friends of agriculture, but that they will unite their experience with their energy to repel and counteract his insidious and baneful influence, and if possible arrest his progress in its first onset.

"The result of my observations respecting the Hessian Fly, when he before ravaged this country, and the plan adopted for destroying him which appeared to me the most effectual, I here subjoin, with a request you will give the same a place in your paper.

"The Fly deposits its eggs in the new wheat soon after its springing up in autumn, and before there are any severe frosts—propagates in the spring—remains in a torpid state till some time after reaping—is invariably found in the 1st or 2d joint of the stalk, and takes wing in the course of August—Cut your wheat high, remove it immediately from off the land, and without delay burn the stubble—This destroys the insect while in this torpid state, and if the burning be effectual, cuts off the Hessian Fly root and branch in one season.

"I think I may safely pledge myself to you, that if this plan of cutting the wheat and burning the stubble is universally adopted we shall hear no more of the Hessian Fly; and that in addition thereto, we shall have larger crops of grain, as the burning greatly enriches the land, and has nearly the same effect as a good coat of manure."

By this Day's Mail.

IMPORTANT.

NEW-YORK, July 5.

Captain Fox, of the British armed schooner Hound, arrived here yesterday afternoon, in 14 days from Barbadoes, obligingly favored us with the following very important information :—

Penelope Packet arrived at Barbadoes 20th June, in 27 days from Falmouth.—Gives accounts that the Austrians, assisted by the Swiss, have driven the French out of Switzerland, with great slaughter. In Italy, the first blow the Russians struck was the capture of Milan, and the French were retreating from that country with the utmost rapidity. Their armies were filled with terror when opposed to the Russians.

"Report says that a counter-revolution had been effected in France. No account had been received in England of Lord Bridport's falling in with the French squadron from Brest, that left that port the 26th April —the last, said, that he was in close pursuit of them, and when last seen by our frigates they were standing to the Southward."

Capt. Fox, also informs that the British frigate Amphitrite, has captured and carried into Barbadoes, the French privateer schr. Democrat, of 10 sixes, and a brig of 16 sixes and fours, and 90 men, which had done a deal of mischief in the West-Indies.

Capt. F. sailed in company with 35 sail of British and American vessels, under convoy of the Amphitrite frigate.

The Hound is consigned to Mr. Kenyon, of this city, merchant; her cargo consists of sugar.

In lat. 23, 00. long. 61, 00, the Hound was chased by a French privateer brig of 18 guns, from at 11 o'clock, A. M. till dark, when he lost sight of the brig.

Crops in Barbadoes are very good.

The Hound does not bring a confirmation of the death of Toussaint.

BOSTON, July 1.

NEW WORK.

The most successful attack that has been made upon the tyranical and impious desperadoes who have lately governed France, and who had laid the plan for eradicating christianity from Europe, and undoubtedly from the face of the earth, is about to make its appearance in this country, in a small publication from the celebrated LA HARPE. The systematic conspiracy of the sect of philosophers, so called, against christianity, as delineated by the iron pen of M. Dela Harpe is almost too infamous to be credited, and it requires all the reputation of the author, who was an eye witness to and a sufferer in all the scenes which he describes, to gain our belief.

As it respects America, this work will prove beyond contradiction, to any man who is not blinded by prejudice (and the 10,000 copies of Paine's Age of Reason, sent to Philadelphia to be destributed gratis, does not invalidate this conclusion) that this plan extended to nothing short of a thorough regeneration. The good men of America, therefore, clergy and others who, by a timely and superior discernment, unmindful of popular clamours, combined early in defence of their country, will have abundant cause to rejoice; and this triumph is well worthy their noble and courageous exertions, when they find, by this work, a confirmation of the opinion, that their virtuous league has frustrated the plan, whose object was, first to destroy the morals of the people, and afterwards the christian religion on which it is founded.

The following apostrophe to the philosophers of the eighteenth century, as a defence of the victims of the revolution, may be considered as a specimen of the author's mode of reasoning.

"With proofs in hand, I affirm, that ever since the beginning of the persecution, ordered against the priests, men of property and virtue, among that multitude of victims delivered up to death, or chains, out of that vast number of martyrs, either captive or proscribed, there, is not one single individual that has been legally convicted of the least plot, of the least attempt against government, there is not one individual, against whom proved or even known facts were ever articulated. You never accused them but in vague and general terms, which were of course false and calumnious; you always condemned the person, and never the act; in a word, you always proscribed en masse by revolutionary denominations, which were sentances of death; nay this was not only the system of Robespierre, as you wished to make us believe, since that villian is no more: it was that of the whole ruling faction, and it is still the system, of the present day, with more or less modification. As a proof of this, I will mention the abominable law of the 3d Brumaire, and so many others, hitherto unrevealed. Now, as you have never been able to specify any thing against any one, whom you have murdered, is it not a demonstration of your inability, not only to articulate real facts, but even to find out appearances, specious enough to authorise personal accusation? You could however dispense with these, for revolutionary qualifications have ever been sufficient to do all the mischief which was wanted. I have therefore a right to conclude that the man who never could be accused of a fact by enemies who have power to do every thing, and who blush at nothing, is certainly innocent."

The Austrians took 200 pieces of cannon at Lago Sacro—They were those plundered by the French from Venice; to which place they are returned. The Austrians possess important posts on Lake Garda; and have driven the French flotilla on that lake under the walls of Peschiera.

[The combined armies may restore their cannon, their fleets, and their forms of government to the fallen states of Italy, and the ruined monarchy of France; but no success of the allied powers, or disaster of their retreating foes, can make atonement for the pillaged wealth of Europe, the death of social order, and the exile of outlawed virtue and religion. Their establishment of monarchy in France, cannot restore to life her unfortunate monarch, and the thousands of virtuous citizens who perished in its wreck. The temple of religion may be again erected, where the poisonous serpents, and filthy reptiles of Atheism have fostered in its ruins; but its pious votaries sleep in the tomb, and the living have forgotten the unfrequented way to her portals.]

NEW-LONDON, July 3.

PIRACY.

The brig Atalanta of Stonington, taken and condemned at Guadaloupe, was purchased by a Frenchman from St. Croix; who obtained permission to man her with the American prisoners. He accordingly agreed with 6, three of whom were of the former crew, at 30 dollars each, for the run to St. Croix. While at sea, the Frenchman was thrown overboard, and a negro man killed with a hand spike. The brig was carried into St. Thomas; when just before entering the harbour, the fellow whom the remainder accused of being the murderer, went on shore in the boat. On arriving the crew petitioned for a salvage, but were conducted to prison; brought to trial, and acquitted. One of the men has arrived here in the schr. Harriet, Capt. Webb.

We understand that all persons were invited who thought proper to attend; the result may therefore be considered as an indication of the general sense of the people of Somerset county, in relation to the most suitable character for the office in question.

PHILADELPHIA,

FRIDAY EVENING, JULY 6.

"TWO ARE BETTER THAN ONE,"

WAS an early doctrinal point in the labors of a moral PREACHER of the North, whose discourses have instructed and fascinated youth by their didactic beauty and persuasive elegance, have arrested the "busy" attention of manhood by their energy and importance, and have gained the approbation of age by their gravity, simplicity and moral truth.

In the ordinary courses of social life, this doctrine is of received and acknowledged importance, and its force is denied by none except the unfortunate misanthrope. Man usually looks upon his fellow with complacency, and from the principles of his nature feels the spirit of my text. But neither can the reason of the misanthrope convince, nor his feelings persuade him, that "two are better than one;" but he is a miserable slave to the impulse, that there is "no assembly of twenty without a score of villains," he loaths the sweet converse of men, and seeks with avidity the gloom and silence of solitude.

A conviction, that there is no less justness in the application of my text to the inculcatio nof moral truth, than in its reference to the ordinary avocations of life, has induced me to select it, as peculiarly adapted to the introduction of my labors. My readers will then be briefly informed, that it is my intention to sermonize, occasionally, after the manner of the Lay Preacher of Newhampshire; that it is my design to become a fellow-laborer in the same vineyard, that mine shall be the voice of another watchman on the walls, and that my reasons for so doing are simply declared in the text, that "two are better than one."

From the prevailing taste and habits of the age, it is strongly to be apprehended, that the "still small voice" of moral instruction will be "like a tale told to an ideot," and that the animated efforts of the PREACHER will "leave no trace behind." Maddened by political discussions, we have gone astray from the consideration of practical truths; and lured by a taste for useless theories, have forsaken the enforcement and practice of principles, whose observance is essential to human happiness, whose discussion produces no venomous animosity of party, and the prominence of whose truth can never be blunted by the efforts of vice, or disguised by the illusions of sophistry. With this depravity to combat, timidity might shrink from the task; but it is the duty of the Preacher to acquire strength from opposition; and consider obstacles only as incentives to exertion; and it is eminently his office, in the midst of difficulty, to "speak forth the words of truth and soberness."

My object is avowedly to "minister in important things;" it is my wish, that from this ministration, "the conclusion of the whole matter" may be, that "two are better than one;" and it is my design, that in my future discourses "truth shall be shewn sometimes as the phantom of a vision, sometimes appear half veiled in an allegory; sometimes attract regard in the robes of fancy, and sometimes step forth in the confidence of reason."

The Lay Preacher of Pennsylvania.

COMMUNICATION.

Yellow Fever.

THERE is no set of men among us who make so much uproar about the restraints imposed to prevent the introduction of the fever as the merchants; and yet they are always the first people to sound unfounded terror, and extend unnecessary alarm. The first serious accounts we receive of this scourge being among us is generally from extracts of letters of our own merchants, returning upon us from all quarteas. A merchant is informed by his clerks or runners perhaps, that the fever is very bad: this is enough for him: all his letters of the day are burthened with this precious authentic intelligence, and flies to every corner of the continent, and comes back to us in "extracts of letters from a respectable mercantile house in Philadelphia." The very obliging correspondents of these gentlemen never lose a moment to carry their letters to the press; and thus from our own counting houses an absurd terror is diffused over the whole country to be exceeded, in its pernicious consequences only by the yellow fever itself.—In your paper of last evening we find from New-York that one of these "respectable mercantile houses" has written that "the fever is actually here and has made some considerable progress." The first part of this "painful sentence" is extremely hypothetical, and the last absolutely false. It is certainly true that cases will give great alarm now that would have excited no attention before 1793. In the commencement of this week there were a few ambiguous cases pronounced by some physicians to be nothing more than common bilious fevers such as have ever been usual at this season, and declared by others to have the appearance of the yellow fever. But I believe no physician of any eminence has declared any one case to be unequivocally the malignant, infectious fever that desolated our city last year. So much as to the existence of the fever here at all; and as to its having made considerable progress, it is an assertion so utterly and notoriously without truth or foundation that in Philadelphia it needs no contradiction. We have ever been candid in confessing the danger when it really existed: let us continue to be so; but no man should venture to give currency to so dreadful a report without the best information and most unequivocal testimony.

TRUTH.

Mr. Fenno,

I now send a correct account of the burials in a few of our public grounds of this city; to counteract the lies that are spread of our present situation. The public may depend upon the truth of them: I may perhaps send a few more on Second day next, from the other burial grounds.

In Friends ground since the 26th of June there has been but one burial	1
In the Swedes ground there have been but	2
In the third Presbyterian for 2 weeks past	1
In the second do. for four weeks past	1
in all	5

And I am well satisfied there have been no more in all those burial grounds during that time. C.

TREASURY DEPARTMENT.

June 26th 1799.

(CIRCULAR.)

To the Collectors of the Customs.

SIR,

I HEREWITH transmit a copy of the proclamation which has been issued by the President of the United States, remitting and discontinuing, from and after the 31st day of July, next, in respect to a part of the island of St. Domingo the prohibitions and restraints imposed by an act of congress passed on the 9th of February, 1799, intitled "an act further to suspend the commercial intercourse between the United States and France and the dependencies thereof."

The district with which commerce is permitted by this proclamation, comprehends the ports in the northern and westerns parts of the island, between Monte Christi and Petit Goave. In respect to all other ports in the island, the restrictions imposed by the act of Congress, remain in force.

The ports of Cape Francois and Port Republicain, formerly called Port au prince, are established by the government of St. Domingo, as the only ports of entry; for these two ports clearances may be granted immediately: although they cannot be entered until the first of August. Vessels which may attempt to enter other ports, without special permission as hereafter mentioned, will be liable to seizure and confiscation.

It is expected that permission will be granted to vessels which shall have made report at one of the ports of entry before mentioned to proceed for purposes of commerce, to any other ports within the district aforesaid. When the consent of the government of St. Domingo can be obtained for this purpose, the American vessels will be furnished with certificates or passports expressing such permission, which will be signed by the consul general of the United States, or the consul residing at the port of entry; the certificates or passports aforesaid, are to be exhibited to the collectors of the customs, on the arrivals of any vessel in the United States, except from one of the ports of entry above mentioned.

Vessels which may proceed from one of the ports of entry to any of the out ports within the district above mentioned, without passports expressing the permission of the government of St. Domingo, will be liable to seizure and confiscation.

American vessels which may obtain cargoes in the island of St. Domingo, are to proceed therewith directly to some port in the United States; if such vessels shall be detained or captured, while proceeding on a voyage elsewhere, they will not be entitled to claim the interposition of the American government in their favor.

The masters and owners of American vessels are to be cautioned, as they would avoid the risque of seizure in St. Domingo, not to permit any Frenchman to embark on board their vessels for any part of the said island, without special passports from the secretary of state.

No persons except citizens of the United States, are to be brought from the island of St. Domingo, unless they produce the written passports of the general in chief of the army of St. Domingo, authorising their departure, and also seperate passports from the consul general of the United States.

Arrived at the Fort, the sloop Mary, Callender; sailed from Surinam the 12th ult. left there ship Brothers, Hawkins, of this port, for London, in 6 days; brig Venus, Dill, of and for this port, time uncertain; brig Liberty, Duer, of and for this port, in 20 days; brig Esperanza, Kenney, sailed for this port about the 23d ult.—An English brig of 18 guns, and several French privateers were cruising off when the Mary came out, and 4 days before he sailed the Hussar, French ship of 20 guns, from France arrived with the following prizes, viz.

Schr.——, Elmer, of and from Hartford, to Demarara, with horses, the cargo was landed and sold immediately.

The schooner Adeline, captain Barnes, of and from Baltimore bound to Surinam, was stranded in Courantine river the 8th May.

There were several French cruizers and one English brig of 18 guns cruizing off Surinam. A few days previous to my departure from thence, it was reported, that the English brig and a French cutter had engaged, that the cutter had the advantage, in point of men, the brig, it was said, was badly manned.

There certainly had been an engagement on the coast, the firing was heard up at Fort Amsterdam; it lasted from sun set till dark and was renewed at day break next morning. Captain Edwards saw the English brig a few miles to leeward of the river's mouth, the afternoon I sailed, he fired at her but did not board her.

ELLIS'S

New Patent Mashing Machine,

For the use of

BREWERIES.

THE subscriber has invented a Machine for the purpose of mashing malt, for the use of Breweries, which will perform that part of the Brewer's business with much less time and trouble than is usually occupied in the common way, with this advantage, that manual labor will be entirely saved, as this machine is worked by a horse, at the same time that he is performing his usual business, with only a small addition to the mill work necessary in Breweries. This machine is now in operation at the Brewery of Luke & Isaac W. Morris, Pear street, Philadelphia.

WILLIAM ELLIS, Millwright,
Gloucester county, New Jersey

WE do hereby certify, that we have used Wm. Ellis's new invented Mashing Machine in our Brewery, and think it a valuable improvement, and worthy the attention of those concerned in Breweries.

TERMS

Of Richard Folwell, in Philadelphia,

FOR SUBSCRIBING TO THE

JOURNALS OF CONGRESS,

FROM THE COMMENCEMENT

Of the American War, in 1774, to the preſent time,

INCLUDING

The Reports of Heads of Departments, o Committees, and other Official and Private Papers of that Body, now firſt permitted to be made public.

TERMS.

THE work will be printed on a fine paper, and a new neat type, in large octavo.

Each volume will contain above 500 pages, neatly bound and lettered.

Uniformity in ſize, paper, and binding, will be obſerved throughout the work; ſo that, while the ſubſcribers become poſſeſſed of a valuable record, an ornament may be added to their libraries.

The price to ſubſcribers will be 2 dolls. 75 cts. per volume, in boards, and 3 dolls. whole bound, but, as the publiſher does not intend to print manmore than the number ſubſcribed for, a conſiderable riſe on the price may be expected to non-ſubſcribers.

Each volume will contain about one third leſs of letter-preſs than the original edition; but, as the publiſher is not yet enabled to determine the extent of the Private Journals, which he may be allowed to make public, he cannot aſcertain the number of volumes which will compriſe the work.

☞ Payments to be made on delivery of each volume.

Subſcribers will have it at their option, either to ſubſcribe for the whole of the Journals, up to the preſent time, or to thoſe only of the Old Congreſs prior to the organization of the Federal Government.

IN all countries, the proceedings in the commencement of their governments, are loſt in darkneſs and obſcurity, owing to a careleſsneſs, in the ſucceeding generation, to preſerve the public records, and the attention of the nation, in theſe rude ages, being called off from their domeſtic concerns, to engage in wars and conqueſt. Of what infinite value would the laws of Alfred be, had they been tranſmitted to our days? Time, that deſtroys every thing, enhances the value of well authenticated public records, and renders them almoſt inеſtimable. It is hoped, that Americans will, therefore, chearfully contribute their aſſiſtance in tranſmitting to poſterity the labours of their anceſtors—founders of the Columbian nation.

☞ The work will certainly be advanced with expedition and promptitude. The following will ſhow the ſupport it has already acquired:

Philadelphia, June 15, 1798.

"That having, in our reſpective avocations, frequent occaſions to recur to the Journals of Congreſs, we experience inconvenience by the ſcarcity of them: That we underſtand that Richard Folwell, printer, of Philadelphia, has had it in contemplation to print that public record; and that he hath obtained partial countenance from many individuals; but that he has delayed proſecuting the work, in expectation of encouragement from government, that may adequately indemnify him. We, therefore, reſpectfully ſolicit, as the publication is neceſſary to be diſſeminated among public bodies, that Congreſs will, in their wiſdom, render him ſuch additional encouragement, to that which he has obtained from private individuals, as to enable him to proceed with the work, ſo that your Memorialiſts may be enabled to purchaſe copies of that record for themſelves.
